Designed for leaders at all levels,
including congregations, mission links,
districts and the conference.

How are we building and leading ministry teams that are connecting mission and community together? How is God opening our hearts to reach new people today? This leadership equipping event will seek to answer these questions and more for church teams that want to launch into new areas and forms of ministry.

Fifty years ago it took courageous leadership and outstanding teamwork for the USA to launch into space and land on the moon, a historic achievement. Today it takes that kind of courageous leadership and effective teamwork for churches to launch viable ministries that make disciples who can transform communities.

We will work together to develop leadership practices to live courageously in our personal and connectional journeys.

KEY QUESTIONS:

"Why me, why us, why now?"

"Oh God, what gifts do we have and need to lead your church together now?"
