Christ UMC in Fairless Hills will offer an interactive six-week study for Lent, titled Living as a Beloved Community, from March 9 to April 13, each Wednesday at 7 PM, online via Zoom. Participants will use resources and discussions to seek and offer insights about unity, diversity and Christian faith.

The Rev. Lloyd Speer, pastor, explains that contrary to humanity's creation in the image of a loving God who calls us to love one another, "divisions have occurred, discord has cropped up. And the color of a person's skin has been the occasion of untold numbers of ungodly acts of prejudice and discrimination. Even among Christians. And even when Christians have not actively participated in such things, sometimes they have sat idly by while God's beloved kingdom has been harmed."

Speer describes the study as a "journey toward more fully living as 'the beloved community' that Dr. King spoke about" and that God intends for us to become. See and share the flyer. Register today to get the Zoom link and watch the listed videos to prepare for each week's session. For more information, contact Rev.
